A WONDERFUL EXHIBITION.

The Ex-Champion Ignored Scientific Tactics and Won Out By Slugging-Heart Blows Did the Business.

New York, Aug. 30.-The long-lookedfor meeting between James J. Corbett and Rid McCoy under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club at Madison Square Garden is over and in less than five rounds Corbett proved himself to be the better man. Keen judges of the game who saw tonight's fight declare that it was the cleverest exhibition ever witnessed in the ring. Up to the moment the men stepped into the ring opinions as to their respective ability were widely divergent. Many claimed that Corbett would prove to be the stronger as well as the cleverer, and it was through his superb feinting and heavy slugging that he put McCoy down and out.

McCoy's friends all along have claimed that he was equally as dexterous with his hands, eyes and feet as the former champion and in addition to this they said that the Kid could hit harder than Corbett. All who have met McCoy acknowledge that his blows are powerful ones and that they sting and out wherever they land. Tonight, however, while McCoy landed some stinging jabs he did not cut Corbett's skin, nor did he single heavy right-hand blow the other hand, Corbett when he on the other hand, Corbett when he dropped science and began to slug, landed hard rights and lefts which simply took McCoy's guard away, and when Corbett found a vulnerable spot in the region of McCoy's heart, two lefts, divided by a right, ended the lattle.

BOTH MEN LOOKED WELL.

Both men entered the ring in superb condition. McCoy was heavier by sev-eral pounds than in any previous fight. He said himself that he never felt beter in his life, and that he was never so it as he was for this contest. His ap pearance in the ring before the fight and during the first three rounds bore that McCoy had said about

Corbett was also in tiptop shape. The rumors that were circulated early in the day that he was afflicted with rheumaism were exaggerated; as Corbett him self snys he was as fit as a fiddle and had only experienced a little stiffness when he awoke this morning. His foot-work always clever, in fact marvelously o, showed no signs of rheumatic ith his hands it could not be improved

In the second round Corbett came up in better form and his uneasy feeling had evidently left him. His fretfulness and nervousness had disappeared and he gave an exhibition which could only be given by a man thoroughly posted in the innermost points of the scientific art of boxing. While not a blow was landed by either in the first round, the greater part was equally fruitful of dumage to either boxer. Corbett frequently endeavored with rights and lefts to reach the Kifd, but the Hoosier and his storning and blocking were marked. his stopping and blocking were mar-velous. Corbett got to the head toward the latter end of the second round and McCoy Jabbed his provoking left into Corbett's face. In the third they got to each other oftener, but it was in the fourth that Corbett began to take Mc-

This was the beginning of McCoy's undoing. Corbett went to him, using

Corbett said: "He can hit, I tell you, but I drouped on the semething years.

I dropped on to something very d at a time. He cannot wallop both hands. When I saw that I a up my mind that the best thing me to do was to go in and mix it with him. And I guess I was right. Now, I am ready and willing to meet any heavy-weight fighter in the world, Jeffries preferred. I will rest up a bit first, and after that I will take on the best offer." Corbett, while talking, was getting into his street clothes, and pased out of the building, surrounded by a bowling crowd who cheered him. a howling crowd who cheered him ciferously.

McCoy's face wore a gloomy expression as he sat in his room dressing. He was in anything but a cheerful humor, and when spoken to be said, curtly: "Ob, I don't want to talk. What's the use? I was whipped. I thought he was so easy in the first two rounds that I grew careless and he got home the punch."

CORBETT GETS ABOUT $18,000. The men battled for sixty per cent The men battled for sixty per cent of the gross receipts, which was to be divided seventy-five per cent to the winner and twenty-five per cent to the vinner and twenty-five per cent to the loser. It is estimated that there was about $50,000 in the house, so that Corbett will receive in the neighborhood of $18,000 and McCoy about $6,000.

At 10:30 o'clock the referee called the men to the center of the ring and instructed them. A moment later they advanced to the center of the ring. Just before the men began Referee White cautioned the seconds that if any of them entered the ring they would be arrested. would be arrested.

BY ROUNDS, ROUND ONE. Corbett started feinting with McCoy breaking. McCoy tried with the left but missed. Corbett feinted with the eft, but stepped back. McCoy tried a light swing but fell short. Corbett tried with his left for the head, but McCoy threw it off. Carbett, after a spell, tried threw it off. Corbett, after a spell, tried another left, but was stopped. Both feinted cleverly and Corbett tried another left. McCoy rushed with both hands, but Corbett stepped back, breaking ground three times. Corbett tried left swing, but was cleverly blocked, and McCoy made him break ground in trying left for the head. Neither lander a blow during the round. The bell found them sparring in the middle of the ring.

ROUND TWO. The cleverness displayed by the men was beautiful. As they came to the center in this round, McCoy was the aggressor, trying a right inside, but fell short. Corbett tried to hook his left to the head, but failed to land on the Kid. McCoy sent two left the to Corbett's the head, but failed to land on the Kid. McCoy sent two left fabs to Corbett's mouth. Jim almed a right hook for the head, but McCoy blocked neatly. McCoy rushed, but Jim sidestopped. McCoy landed a left on the ear and at close quarters put his left to the body and Jim put his right to the car and face. They clinched, and in the breakaway Corbett tried for the head but missed. Corbett then sent his left to the ribs, tried again and fell short. Corbett sent his left to the neck and crossed his right to the mouth. Again the beil found them sparring in the ring. found them sparring in the ring.

THE THIRD ROUND.

Both feinted for a few seconds, and hen Corbett sent his left for the body, out was blocked. McCoy tried a left swing, but Jim got away safely. Corbett essayed a left swing for the body, but McCoy blecked. Corbett rushed in but McCoy clinched safely and the referee separated them. Jim tried a right for the jaw, but McCoy ducked. They came together in another clinch, McCoy's elbow going to Corbett's chest, and McCoy was cautioned by the referee. McCoy was now on the defensive, and blocked a left uppercut. McCoy led left to face and Jim countered. Both landed left swings on the mouth. Corbett dropped his science for a moment bett dropped his science for a moment and began walloping without landing, as the Kid's blocking was perfect.

THE FOURTH ROUND.

The Kid stepped in with the left to the face. He tried a right but Jim put right and left to the head. Jim tried left for the head, but they linched and broke at the referee' ner, and Jim tried left swing, under which the Kid ducked. McCoy fabbed his left to the face. Corbott smothered McCoy with rights and lefts on the body and head. McCoy was then un-able to defend himself, and simply crossed his arms under his face. Corbett, seeing that he had McCoy at his mercy, drove a hard left to the stom-ach, which doubled McCoy in two. Mc-Coy holding on to Jim's left glove. Jim then planted a hard right over the heart, which sent McCoy staggering, and Corbett, following quickly, sent another left to the same spot, and McCoy went to the floor. While the referee was counting the ten seconds, McCoy struggled to regard his feet here. McCoy struggled to regain his feet, but he was counted out before he could stand up. White had counted him out before the Kid got up, and he did not seem to realize that he had been counted out. The referee had to tell him to go to his corner. McCoy left the ed out. The referee had to tell him to go to his corner. McCoy left the ring within a minute after he was counted out, while Corbett was de-tained by his friends, who surrounded him and smothered him with congratu-lations. Time of round, 2 minutes and

As a preliminary to the heavy-weight bout, "Whitey" Lester of Philadelphia and Jack Cushing of Brooklyn were put on for a twelve-round go at catch weights. Lester proved to be much too good for the Brooklyn man, and put all over him in the opening round. In the second Cushing went to the floor and was willing to quit. He went down a third time with very slight provocation and refused to get up. He quit in the most miserable manner, and Referee Charley White declared Lester the winner.

Don't Blame Us!

Don't say we didn't warn you. Because that wouldn't be fair, and if there is anything you pride yourself on, it is on being fair. You know how it was last Fall. Don't you remember the free and painful language you used? Don't you remember the shocked look your wife wore for a week? Well don't let it happen again. What are we talking about? We are talking about that of yours. It needs overhanling and we want to overhanl it. Because when WE overhand a Furnace, it stays overhauled. Because if there is anything, in or out of a Catalogue, that we don't know about a FUR-NACE, we haven't run across it yet. Because we make a specialty of fixing Furnaces. Because the cold weather is coming on. Because - well, there's a whole lot of other becauses but we haven't time to talk about them right now,
